Construction of Wooden Fishing Rods and Reels

By John H. Elder

As we wind down from the flurry of activity of the Designs in Wood Exhibition at the 2006 San Diego County Fair there is an opportunity to reflect on the many beautiful pieces that were in the competition this year. I never come away from the Exhibition feeling disappointed with what I have seen. All of the pieces show excellence in craftsmanship and creativity and I imagine it is extremely difficult for the judges to make their final decisions. I am always inspired by the beautiful work that I see.

One piece particularly worthy of its first place award in the category Models, Not to Scale was John Elder's Pflueger Progress Skeleton-type Fly Reel. The reel has all the characteristics of the original reel, including a working clicker and reel that spins freely in its housing. John has an amazing ability to make one type of wood look like another. For example, the handle on this fly rod is actually poplar made to look like cork. He creates threaded rods and nuts in wood to hold his reels to the rods and they work just like the real thing. Another unique quality of John's work is the creative display of his reels by creating stands that give the illusion the rod is in use and just waiting for a fish to bite.

John is a Professor of Molecular Biology at The Scripps Research Institute in La Jolla. He has been involved in woodworking for over 30 years, starting with survival woodworking (refinishing/furniture restoration) during college. Most of his woodworking projects are related to his other hobbies including golf putters, tackle boxes, display cabinets, wood fishing lures and the rods and reels. He has been a regular participant in the Designs in Wood Exhibitions for many years and has received numerous awards for his fine craftsmanship.

The presentation for this month's meeting will be a PowerPoint presentation that covers how John designs and builds his rods and reels including how he creates the various intricate pieces that make up his models. He uses common equipment found in most wood shops and has a practical, problem solving approach to creating these beautiful works of art. John will also bring some of the rods and reels he has built for display at the meeting. Please join us for what promises to be an interesting and information packed presentation. See you at the meeting!!

July Raffle

YOU REALLY DON'T WANT TO MISS IT!

Thanks to a special deal from Bob Welte at Tool Depot, the REALLY BIG PRIZE is back this month. It's been three or four years since the last one was on the table waiting for a lucky winner. It's the Delta Midi-lathe, the most popular prize we've ever had. It's small enough for any shop, and powerful enough for the biggest. It can even be lengthened with bed extensions for long turnings. Be sure to put a few extra tickets in the hopper for this one.

But that's not all... Six other raffle prizes include the Kreg Jig K-3 master pocket hole kit, Our traditional Porter-Cable 694 plunge and standard router kit and a beautiful bronze Lie-Nielsen rabbet block plane priced right for the raffle by Bill Kohr at Craftsman Studios. Special thanks this month go also to Rockler's Mike Durlak for great pricing and continuing support for our raffle and our Association.

Here's the complete list:

1. Set of six Irwin bench chisels and three miniature lathe chisels
2. Rockler Router Table with two sets of router bits: A basic set and a cabinet door set
3. Porter-Cable 694 Router/Plunge Router Kit
4. Lie-Nielsen rabbet plane
5. Delta Shopmaster midi-lathe
6. Kreg pocket hole kit
7. The usual bucket full of handy tools and accessories and interesting wood

Be sure to show your appreciation to these and the rest of our sponsors by visiting their stores and by thanking them for their support. Their names and locations are listed elsewhere in this newsletter and on the SDFWA website.

Ticket Sales start at 6:30, and only at the meeting, so you have to be there to win! Come early and support this fun event. Every penny supports the purchase of prizes... More support means better prizes.

Shop Tour

Work shop of Allen Brooks
29 July 2006 at 9:00am

Our next shop tour will be hosted by Mr. Allen Brooks. Allen's background runs the gamut, starting out as a High School Teacher all the way to Vice Chancellor of a College System. I hope my grammar and spelling are up to par! Allen holds a B.S., M.S., and a PhD, but most importantly, a passion for woodworking and that's something you can't earn in any school.

Allen's love of woodworking has provided him with more than just a few pieces of furniture or jewelry boxes, it has given him a home. With over 42 years of woodworking knowledge under his belt, he built his own house and most of the contents in it. Allen enjoys cabinet making/carpentry, wood carving, turning, mosaics and stained glass and if his personal Philosophy holds true to his work, we should be seeing some very fine work indeed.

Allen Brooks on Personal Philosophy

"I always think of wood as being alive. Sometimes when I work I feel this sense in the atmosphere; the sense that maybe the wood and the tools are doing, and want to do, something which is beyond me but more than I am. And I hesitate to question the direction of my work."

From the President...

The 25th Design In Wood show is over and once again thanks to all the volunteers it was a great success. Each year it is a little different and each year it gets better. The same is true this year. Our 25th Anniversary display put together by Bob Stevenson, Chuck Meacham and our founder Lynn Rybarczyk was a big crowd pleaser. There is a lot of SDFWA history and they did a fine job of presenting it.

Once again, many examples of fine quality work were on display. The quality seems to get better every year. It takes a lot of hard work top put on the "greatest woodworking show on earth". Bob Stevenson, his staff and volunteers deserve our gratitude for all their hard work. We have some great volunteers who each year devote their time during setup, tear down and during the show to make this show the great success it is. We really appreciate all your help. But we seem to be getting a little thin on help for set up and tear down. We really need a lot of help during these two days and we could have used more help this year. If you have any suggestions on making it easier to volunteer or participate, please let us know. None of us are getting any younger but the wooden platforms, walls and furniture are getting heavier every year.

Our many sponsors also deserve our heartfelt thanks for their contributions. Our show's success is due in great part to their contributions of prizes and advertising. Fine Woodworking, Popular Woodworking, Wood Magazine, and Woodworker West all give prize money and publish our show in their magazine. Many of them also travel considerable distances to make these awards. Many of our local sponsors also contribute heavily to our show. Apollo Sprayers, Advanced Machinery Imports, West Coast Arborists, the Maritime Museum, San Diego Wood Turners, Seaside Scrollers, American Furniture Design and Rockler Woodworking all present awards of cash and/or prizes. Jack Griebe of Lane Stanton Vance has been quietly donating the material for the children's chair seats for years, and Frost Lumber heavily discounts the red oak for the rest of the chair parts. Please make a point to thank all of our sponsors for their contributions. In addition to our chair shop volunteers, the scrollers, turners, carvers and Maritime Museum Ship builders volunteer with demonstrations throughout the show. The web site lists all the special awards given by our many sponsors.

The chair shop produced over 50 chairs again this year. Everyone seems to be getting better. We may have to raise our production numbers. This year we ran out of parts before the end of the fair. The chairs will be available for you to pick up and finish at the meeting. Finishing instructions are included so take one or two chairs to finish over the summer. I had several recipients of our chairs come up to the chair shop and thank us for our donations. It makes it all worthwhile to hear how much they are treasured.

Judging the pieces for the SDFWA member awards was particularly difficult again this year. We had many fine pieces entered and it is hard to select just a few for awards. Remember that this is a juried show. This means you have to meet excellent standards just to be accepted. You all should be proud of your entries and if you did not win this year then try again next year.

We are planning a special event for our fall meeting to celebrate our 25TH Anniversary. We will have more on this later. Stay tuned.

Eight scholarships were awarded during the fair again this year. Four scholarships went to college students and four to high school woodworkers. We hope they will bring their pieces to the July meeting.

We have implemented an Email Message List to notify you of special items that are not in the newsletter. It is sent to all who have an email address on their membership form. You may easily opt out of this if you wish.

We have another great fall seminar planned, Bob Flexner on finishing and furniture repair. This year's fee includes a book and video. Get your tickets at the meeting to insure getting your book and video at the seminar. See the flyer for more information.

Don't forget to get a chair to take home, finish and bring to the next meeting.

See you at the meeting.

GOING BEYOND THE CALL OF DUTY

This year's "Design In wood" exhibit was a celebration of 25 years of excellence. The success of this show is the result of the hard work and dedication of hundreds of SDFWA members over these many years. In this article I will feature two of our members who have gone beyond the call of duty. One has been in the spotlight all these years, while the other has worked behind the scenes.

Del Cover is the only person who has entered pieces consecutively in the Design In wood Exhibition for the past 25 years. His work has met the exhibit founders objectives. They have been very original and superbly crafted. His 1982 entry was the much talked about Breast of Drawers. In 1983 his piece, Dragon Hammock made the cover of Fine Woodworking Magazine. This years entry was made from left over pieces he collected over these many years.

Del has competed and won awards in the classes of contemporary, traditional, art furniture, models and in the category made for children. Each year his pieces have both entertained and inspired the shows visitors. Besides his woodworking contributions, Del has also served the association for the past 12 years as Program Chairman., which has helped educate us all. When Del is not serving SDFWA, he makes a living as a professional woodworker. His specialties are chair building and matching styles.

He became internationally known through a collaboration with the late Niki de St. Phalle. Two of their projects are: the Chariot in Tarot Garden in Italy and the Niki Snake Chairs for the Jean Tinguely Museum restaurant in Basil, Switzerland. A current challenge has been building a couch and chair designed by James Hubbell to replace the ones burned in the Cedar fire. Del has enjoyed the competition and fellowship with many of our members over the past quarter century.

Over the years Harry Baldwin has helped set up the exhibit, worked in the chair shop, and helped with photographing the winning entries. This last activity has allowed him the opportunity to see each piece inside and out.

Harry was one of the original members who sign up for the association at the Cutting Edge. He volunteered to produce the mailing labels for the newsletter. At the time he did the work on a pre-IBM home computer and printed them on a noisy (now obsolete) "daisy wheel" printer. Harry is still involved with the membership list, some twenty five years later. Over these many years he has worked with Ray McNamara, George Helsten, Paul Jones, and Len Wener. Harry feels that his association with this organization and many of the members has contributed something very positive in his life.

Bicycle touring is a favorite pass time of Harry's. One of his trips was inspired by a fellow member, Lorenzo Foncerrada, who gave a talk at one of the general meetings about his trip to Bali and the many wood carvers. Harry has since toured New Zealand, and South America, where he saw many exotic woods and the interesting objects made from them. A dream trip of his is to tour Costa Rica and examine his 200 hardwood trees made up of sixteen different species. Harry also flies a glider competitively.

Both of these individuals have had a positive affect on my life and I am sure many others. Thank you both for setting your own standards of excellence.

Design in Wood 2006

The 25th Annual Design in Wood Exhibition has been put to bed after a successful three weeks and over 1.2 million visitors many of whom actually came just to see our exhibit. Over the years we have created quite a following. In addition to local regulars, we have some folks who come from places like MO, MI, AZ, OR, WA, and MD just to see Design in Wood and have done so for several years.

It is real rewarding to hear the nice comments regarding the pieces and the display. Countless times I heard, "This is the only reason I come to the Fair."

This year setup went very well with plenty of volunteers. The signups for the chair shop and the volunteers to walk the floor of the exhibit was at about 80%. Remember next year, this is your show and we need your support. If everyone signed up for one shift we would have more than enough help. Why is it always left to the other guy? If you are a member of an organization, it seems only reasonable that you would want to take part and give back rather than just take.

This year, as in the past, we had one day after the Fair ended on July 4th to take the exhibit down and have it ready to load on the three semi trailers the next morning. We started at 8:00am on July 5 with 10 staff, 4 volunteers from SDFWA, 2 Scrollers, 4 Turners, 4 Maritime Museum members, and 2 Carvers. At 9:00am we hired 8 U.S. Marine volunteers to help. With a couple of exceptions, most of the other guilds had their booths down and stowed and the personnel left just about lunch time or shortly thereafter. The Marines had to leave at 3:00pm. This left 10 of us there to finish packing out and giving back the entries. We left at 8:00pm that evening not quite done and totally exhausted.

The next morning 4 staff and one volunteer wrapped up and the trucks were loaded by 12:00 noon.

Could you have helped? Where were you?

To all of you who did help, a very big thank you.

Notes from the 19th Century Cabinetmaker's Workshop Master

Another year is done and the chairs will be ready for finishing at the July meeting. They will need final sanding and the application of about three (3) coats of an oil finish and a coat of wax. I find that 2 chairs don't really take a lot more time than one does. Please get yours early on and RETURN them at the September meeting.

I want to thank my wife, Linnea, and Patrick O'toole for helping assemble and finish the shelving and bases for the tool display at the back of the Shop.

I also want to thank everyone who helped set up and take down the Shop or worked in the Shop during the Fair. Yes, even those who broke a tool or ruined a chair part! The important things are that you learned something, that you had some fun, that you improved a skill, and that the chairs are ready. So thank you all who did your part.
